’Twas Ever Thus! - Brats Monthly Newsletter

8th December 2008

’Twas Christmas Day in the poor house and the boys were feeling blue, the boys in grey were fighting, A Merry Christmas to you!

Show Me That Again.....

Tonight we have a festive selection of films starting with the silent Christmas classic ‘Big Business’ in which the ‘Boys’ are Christmas tree salesman. Our next film is the sound Christmas classic The Fixer Uppers where the boys are this time selling Christmas cards. Our next film is a winter tale in which the boys are sharing a room with a little dog called Laughing Gravy!

Michael Stokes-Moorhouse.....

Alan Bell has informed me with great sadness that Mick has recently passed away in St Lukes Hospice – Our thoughts are with Mick’s family at this sad time.

Who Was Columbus.....?

Despite the result of the second leg of the quiz against the Early to Bed Tent of Chesterfield in October in which the Brats Tent suffered a defeat, the team unbelievably bounced back to win the first leg at the ETB meeting in Nowonder and in doing so winning the event overall – Congratulations go to John Jnr (Team Captain), Duncan, Heppy and Michelle.

You Don’t Believe Me.....!

The Laurel and Hardy 21 DVD box set is now on sale for less than £50 in numerous outlets

Statue Appeal.....?

You may recall that the Tent raised £100 towards the L&H Statue Appeal. The Tent has now officially joined the 100 club and has received a membership certificate which will be on display tonight.
